

FSNE Training and Special Projects
FFY 2008

Contractor (Organization)	Project Title and Description	Contractor Contact (name, title email, phone)
California Conference of Local Health Officers (CCLHO)	Local Health Department Leadership Project: Convene 9 regional workshops and a state-wide meeting that will bring together local health department staff that oversee programs and services for low-income populations.	Linda Rudolph, MD, MPH Health Officer, City of Berkeley (510) 981-5339 E-Mail: lrudolph@ci.berkeley.ca.us
California Medical Association Foundation (CMAF)	FSNE Health Care Providers Project: Continue activities conducted in FFY 2007 that initiate and improve the delivery of FSNE interventions by community healthcare providers directly serving Food Stamp eligible populations.	Christine Maulhardt, MPA Director, Obesity Prevention Project (916) 551-2874 cmaulhardt@cmanet.org
California Women Lead (CWL) (formerly CEWAER)	Community Champions Projects: Provide technical assistance, training, briefings and support to up to 50 FSNE intermediaries to become volunteer "Community Champions" to build leadership and communication skills for FSNE funded projects and regions and to provide voluntary community nutrition education for FSNE-eligible individuals within approved Network interventions sites.	Cathrine Lemaire Development Director (916) 551-1920 cathrine@cewaer.org
Center for Collaborative Solutions (CCS)	After-School Nutrition Education Project: Utilize existing infrastructure of after-school program to educate FSNE-eligible children and their families about improved dietary behaviors. Recently published exemplary practices will be distributed through trainings and a website; after-school programs selected to establish the Nutrition Education Leadership Learning Community will become regional learning centers to assist other after-school programs throughout the state in the implementation of exemplary practices.	Janet Walden President & CEO (916) 567-9911 JWaldenCCS@aol.com
Contra Costa Childcare Council	Early Childhood FSNE Project: Utilize the existing infrastructure of child cared and development programs to educate food stamp eligible children and their families about improved dietary behaviors.	Paula James Manager, Child Health and Nutrition Program (925) 676-5442 pjames@cocokids.org
Ecology Center	EBT Nutrition Education Project: Provide nutrition education at farmer's markets and flea markets in qualifying census tracts that already have Food Stamp Electron Benefit Transfer (EBT) devices in place.	Linda Langan Lead Project Coordinator 510-548-2220 x226 linda@ecologycenter.org
First 5 Association of California (F5AC)	First 5 Association of California: Building on previous year activities, further focus efforts to target solutions for meeting the nutrition education and physical activity promotion needs of young children and their families, with a focus on FSNE eligible	Moirra Kenney Statewide Program Director 510 526 9999 x12 moira@f5ac.org

FSNE Training and Special Projects
FFY 2008

Contractor (Organization)	Project Title and Description	Contractor Contact (name, title email, phone)
	children in the care of informal care providers as well as family day care settings. Additionally, the Network will partner with CDE, WIC and other partners to target solutions for meeting the needs of FSNE-eligible enrolled in day care centers and preschool settings.
Occidental College, Center for Food and Justice (CFJ)	Farm to School Nutrition Education Project: Build upon previous years work to promote nutrition education through Farm to School programs by convening quarterly meetings of the interagency Farm to School Taskforce; provide technical assistance, trainings and briefings to Farm to School Champions; and provide technical assistance directly to schools for integrating Harvest of the Month into their Farm to School Program.	Maira Powers Beery (323) 341-5099 beery@oxy.edu
Brown and Miller Communications	Regional Network Nutrition Education Initiatives: Provide technical assistance to 11 Regional Networks and Collaborative to facilitate the execution of the nutrition education initiatives identified and developed through a strategic planning process completed in FFY 2007	Paula Hamilton Creative Director (925) 370-9777 paula@brownmillerpr.com
California Association of Nutrition and Activity Programs (CAN-Act)	FSNE Project Training: In coordination with state FSNE staff, will arrange and conduct regional workshops with FSNE-funded programs to provide training on FSNE program implementation, including contract operations, administration, and reporting and program development.	Melody Steeples Association Director (925) 323-1932 msteeples@yahoo.com
California Center for Research on Women and Families (CCRWF)	Briefings to FSNE/Food Stamp Intermediaries: In partnerships with the First 5 Association, Contra Costa Childcare, and R & Rs provide concise briefings and resources to intermediaries serving FSNE-eligible early childhood communities.	Kate Karpilow, PhD Executive Director (510) 558-3445 karpilow@ccrwf.org
California Conference of Local Health Department Nutritionists (CCLHDN)	CCLHDN Conference &amp; Training: Provide leadership training for county health department nutritionists on County Nutrition Action Plans and FSNE activities, including collaboration, partnerships building and Communities of Excellence.	Carole Pirruccello, MPH, RD Public Health Nutrition Consultant III (916) 449-5427 Carol.Pirruccello@cdph.ca.gov
California Food and Justice Coalition (CFJC)	Nutrition Education Workshops: Convene 4 workshops in low-income FSNE-eligible neighborhoods across the state with the goal of educating FSNE-eligible populations and	Heather Fenney Program Director (310) 822-5410 heather@foodsecurity.org

FSNE Training and Special Projects
FFY 2008

Contractor (Organization)	Project Title and Description	Contractor Contact (name, title email, phone)
	intermediaries serving FSNE households regarding healthy eating, physical activity and strategies to choose a healthy diet with limited resources.
Center for Civic Partnerships	Network Project Sustainability Training: Conduct sustainability training and technical assistance to Network projects to assist with the advancement of best practices for sustainability, asset development and community-based partnerships such as Healthy Cities in order to maximize effectiveness of FSNE activities across the state.	Joan Twiss Executive Director (916) 646-8680 JTwiss@civicpartnerships.org
Youth Empowerment Training	Youth Empowerment Training: In partnership with the Statewide Youth Board on Obesity Prevention, subcontracts will be developed to support up to eleven pilot projects to engage and educate FSNE-eligible youth (age 12-18) in order to increase fruit and vegetable consumption and daily physical activity.	Kamaljeet Singh-Khaira, MS Youth Initiatives Consultant (916) 449-5437 Kamaljeet.Singh-Khaira.cdph.ca.gov
Public Health Law and Policy (PHLP)	Healthy Community Promotion Training: Provide training and technical assistance to FSNE-funded projects on allowable and low-cost strategies and methods FSNE programs can use to promote healthy communities directly to Food Stamp-eligible individuals as an integrated component of direct nutrition education.	Marice Ashe, JD, MPH Director (510) 302-3380 mashe@phi.org
University of California Davis	FSNE Project Training: Arrange and conduct trainings on: nutrition; techniques for planning, implementing and evaluation nutrition education; partnership and networking skills; program implementation and delivery; and LIA policies and procedures.	Jennifer Culp, MPH, RD Center Coordinator (530) 754-5821 jbculp@ucdavis.edu