

California Food Recall Information

Recall Name

T. Marzetti Company Announces Limited Recall of Girard's Honey Dijon Peppercorn Salad Dressing

Recall Date	Product Description	Recalling Firm	Recall Reason
09/05/2008	A limited number of 12 fl. oz. bottles of Girard's Honey Dijon Peppercorn Dressing (item 58105) is being recalled because they may have the incorrect back label of Girard's French Dressing (item 58015).	T. Marzetti Company of Columbus, Ohio.	The Girard's Honey Dijon Peppercorn Dressing contains eggs, which is not declared as an ingredient on the Girard's French label. People who have allergies to egg run the risk of serious allergic reaction if they consume this product.
Recall Class	Product Identification	Distribution	Affected Dates
N/A	The bottles were shipped in corrugated cases marked with the item number 58105 and with a date code of Best By 06-11-09M. The 12 fl. oz. bottles are labeled with "Girard's Honey Dijon Peppercorn" on the front, the back of the bottle may be labeled with Girard's French Dressing (item 58015), with the date code of Best By 06-11-09M. No other date codes are involved in the recall.	The recalled bottles of Girard's Honey Dijon Peppercorn Dressing were distributed throughout the western United States (primarily California, Washington, Oregon and Arizona).	All bottles with the date code of Best By 06-11-09M.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION MAY BE OBTAINED AT:

Consumers with questions may contact the company's consumer response department at 614-846-2232.