CDPH Launches Cosmetic Product Database

A groundbreaking new California Safe Cosmetics Program (CSCP) online database allows nail and hair salon workers and others to learn whether cosmetic products contain toxic chemicals.

California's first-of-its-kind cosmetics law requires cosmetic companies to report products containing ingredients known or suspected to cause cancer or reproductive harm.

This information is now easily accessible through a new, searchable database. Professionals who work with cosmetics and consumers can search for specific products, companies, or chemical ingredients, and learn about how chemical exposure can affect health.

The California Safe Cosmetics Program is part of the California Department of Public Health \(CDPH\).
