

INFORMATION NOTICE
FOR CALIFORNIA MEDICAL SCHOOLS
REGARDING BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONS CODE SECTION 2113

This notice addresses the Radiologic Health Branch's (RHB) recent denial of applications submitted for the California Licentiate Supervisor and Operator Permit and the California Radiology Supervisor and Operator Certificate from individuals who are granted a certificate of registration by the Medical Board of California pursuant to Business and Professions Code Section 2113 (BPC 2113).

After consultation with the Medical Board of California, RHB confirms that faculty members of an approved medical school who are granted a certificate of registration by the Medical Board of California pursuant to BPC 2113 are exempt from the requirement to obtain a California Licentiate Supervisor and Operator Permit and the California Radiology Supervisor and Operator Certificate as specified in title 17, California Code of Regulations (17 CCR), sections 30462 through 30465.

However, a certificate of registration is valid only to the extent that the practice of medicine by the holder is within the confinements of the medical school campus and must be incident to and a necessary part of his or her duties as approved by the Medical Board of California in connection with that faculty position.

Furthermore, BPC 2113 requires the applicant to be under the direction of and accountable to the chair of the department under which the applicant works. Accordingly, exemption from 17 CCR 30462-30465 is limited to the same extent as specified in the individual's certificate of registration granted pursuant to BPC 2113.
