Some people infected with SARS-CoV-2 shed the virus in their stool. Stool in household wastewater (or sewage) is treated at a treatment facility. Treatment facilities sample wastewater, which is tested for SARS-CoV-2. Positive wastewater samples are reported to public health. Wastewater is treated and disinfected to remove SARS-CoV-2.