About PAC/LAC

The Perinatal Advisory Council: Leadership, Advocacy and Consultation (PAC/LAC) has been a leading maternal and child health organization since its incorporation as a non-profit agency in 1981. PAC/LAC's mission is to improve perinatal health outcomes by providing leadership, education and support to professionals and systems caring for women and their families. Children's health and well-being start with a healthy pregnancy and the events that occur during an infant's first few hours of life. PAC/LAC strives to make those first health experiences the best by ensuring that pregnant women, babies, and families are cared for by the most competent professionals in well-equipped health care settings. PAC/LAC has a long-standing reputation of excellence in the community for our work with hospitals and health care professionals.

About Membership

Our members include a broad spectrum of individuals and organizations in the maternal child health community including healthcare professionals, hospitals, community-based organizations, health clinics, health plans and public health organizations.

Key Benefits of Membership

- Exclusive access to cutting-edge research and information regarding perinatal care
- On-demand, customized expert consultation, advice and resources on all topics related to perinatal care, hospital practices, policies & procedures
- Education and networking plus access to the leaders who are making a difference in perinatal care

Objectives

Upon completion of this conference, participants will be able to:

- List three resources available to assist in the care of the extremely obese pregnant patient.
- Employ quality improvement techniques to improve perinatal outcomes and optimize the survival of both mothers and babies during transport.
- Implement techniques and tools to assist parents with the emotional toll of having a child in the NICU.
- Understand the importance of a standardized approach to diagnosing and treating preterm labor.
- Understand the impact of thought processes on an individual's quality of life.

About the Conference

This event allows for the important dissemination of new and emerging clinical practice standards as well as an opportunity to discuss health-related issues affecting the perinatal community. This one day conference will occur on May 29, 2014 and will address many of the most pressing perinatal issues in the healthcare community focusing on current neonatal and obstetrical topics. The program is designed for perinatal nurses, pediatricians, obstetricians, neonatologists, hospital administrators, social workers, health educators and other professionals responsible for the care of mothers and/or newborns. Topics presented will explore areas of rapid change and significant influence on the practice of perinatal and neonatal care, with an emphasis on optimizing outcomes for mother and infant.

Conference Fees:

We offer a lower conference registration for current PAC/LAC members and for those joining PAC/LAC at this time.
