Alameda County

I am a resilient and compassionate African-American leader who stands as a pillar of strength in the fight against HIV and AIDS, tirelessly advocating for prevention and care. My unwavering commitment to the cause has empowered communities to break the stigma surrounding HIV while providing vital support to those affected, offering a beacon of hope and resilience. Lastly, through my dedication and determination, I have not only saved lives but also inspired countless individuals to join the fight for a healthier, more inclusive future.
